The most remarkable features on the table in the linea range are the smooth mitre joints between the table top and the legs. There is an obvious difference in the material thicknesses of the different sections, giving the linea table a delicate and interesting radiance. As in the fulvo range, the joints can be seen from both sides of each leg. Customers may commission a variation of this which shows the mitre joint on one side only. The linea range also has a matching chair available.
